

CONVERSATION WITH WOULD + VERB ING

Waiter: Good evening! Welcome to our restaurant. How are you both doing tonight?

Customer 1: We're doing well, thank you. We're really excited to try the food here.

Customer 2: Yes, we've heard great things. What would you recommend?

Waiter: Well, tonight's special is our homemade lasagna, which many guests are enjoying. But if you'd like something lighter, our grilled salmon is also a popular choice.

Customer 1: That sounds good. I would like to try the lasagna.

Customer 2: I think I'd like the salmon, but I'm still deciding. Could you tell me more about the sides?

Waiter: Of course! The salmon comes with roasted vegetables and a small salad. Many people are loving the dressing we use for the salad. It's light and tangy, perfect with fish.

Customer 2: That sounds perfect. I would like the salmon with those sides then.

Waiter: Great choice. Would you both like to start with any appetizers?

Customer 1: Hmm... I think I would like to skip the appetizers. What about you?

Customer 2: I'm thinking of getting something small. Would you recommend the bruschetta or the soup?

Waiter: Both are excellent. But if you're looking for something light, I'd suggest the bruschetta. It's a great way to start the meal.

Customer 2: Okay, I would like the bruschetta, please.

Waiter: Excellent! And what would you like to drink?

Customer 1: I would like a glass of red wine, please.

Customer 2: I would like some sparkling water with lemon.

Waiter: Wonderful. I'll get your drinks and appetizer right away. Would you like to hear about our desserts for later?

Customer 1: Oh, we're definitely thinking about dessert. But we'll wait until after the main course!

Waiter: Sounds good! I'll be back shortly with your drinks.
